Your appointment:

If the suggested time is inconvenient for you, you can book another, suitable time.

Your home municipality offers a regular cytological test for the female population. The invitations are sent on the basis of birth year, and the visit is free of charge to you.

During the visit, a cell sample will be collected from the cervix. Preferably, the sample should not be taken during menstruation. Other discharges do not interfere with testing. You will also be asked some questions, concerning, for instance, any gynaecological discharge problems, and the first date of your last menstrual period will be recorded. All information revealed during the visit is confidential.

The results will be sent to you by personal letter. If further examination is required, you will be informed of this in the letter.

The information collected in screening is stored in the patient records of the screening laboratory. These records are confidential and cannot be released to third parties without patient consent or special provisions of law.

Cervical cancer can be prevented! Participation in the screening is worth your while.
